Sweet Facts

A Dentist Invented Candy Floss

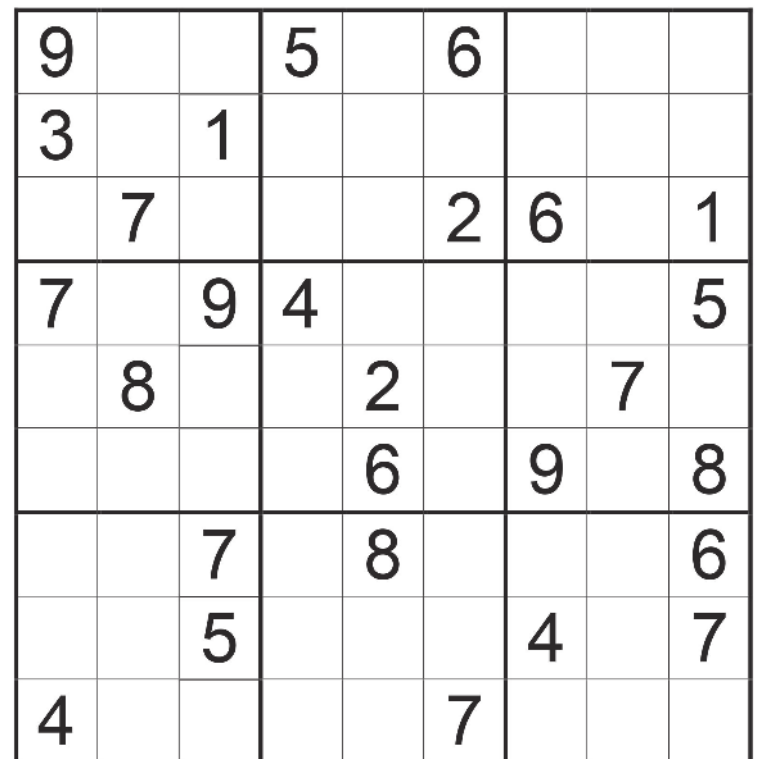

One of the most ironic facts in sweet history: candy floss was co-invented by a dentist. In 1897, Dr. William Morrison teamed up with confectioner John C. Wharton to create a machine that spun sugar into a light, fluffy treat. Debuted at the 1904 World's Fair as "Fairy Floss," it was an instant hit, selling more than 68,000 boxes during the event. It was later renamed "candy floss" in the UK and "cotton candy" in the US.
