Royalty to reign at the Vaal

➔ Kennedy looks to have some decent rides.

Jack Milner

Putters are faced with a competitive card at the Vaal today and with all the rain that has fallen over the Highveld it could complicate matters even further.

However, trainer Ashley Fortune should get horseplayers off to a good start in Race 2 where she sends out Full Royalty in a Maiden Plate for fillies and mares over 1400m.

The daughter of Louis The King was not disgraced when fourth on debut and with improvement expected should win what looks a weak race.

There was some betting support for her last time. She opened up at 25-1 but that was snapped up and by the time the starter sent them for home she was trading at 6-1. She was slowly away but stayed on to finish a 4.25-length fourth behind Goddess Of Light.

That form line has worked out quite well as second-placed Courante has run a short-head second and a 1.50-length third in her next two starts, but third-placed Moonstrike did come out to win her follow-up run.

Full Royalty is also expected to benefit from the extra 200m this time. Ryan Munger is in great form and he takes the ride.

Fortune has a big chance to pull off a quick double as she sends out Twice As Wild in Race 3, another Maiden Plate for fillies and mares over 1400m.

This daughter of Twice Over improved nicely in her second start when runner-up behind easy winner Scottadito over the course and distance a couple of weeks back.

The three-year-old filly made most of the running that day which suggests that when she learns to be more patient, she could have a few wins in her.

However, she will have to beat Mike de Kock-trained Sing Girl Sing who has run third in her last two starts. The three-year-old daughter of Philanthropist has only raced three times and all three form lines look good.

Although she finished unplaced on debut in April, two winners have emerged from that form line. Her next start was in June when she finished a 2.90-length third behind Splash Of Green.

She suffered interference late in that race so did well to run as close as she did. Three winners from five runners have come out of that race, including runner-up Prairie Falcon.

Last time out she lost ground at

STRONG CANDIDATE. Flying Bull has finished runner-up in his last three starts and is overdue a victory in Race 4 at the Vaal today. Picture: JC Photographics the start when third behind Dancing Arabian, but the winner has gone on to win twice more from four starts.

Against Sing Girl Sing is that she has not raced since 27 July and could be in need of the run. De Kock, however, has engaged Warren Kennedy to ride the filly.

Kennedy will also be aboard Flying Bull in Race 4, who looks the right one in a decent handicap.

This Soft Falling Rain gelding has been runner-up in his last three starts and surely a change of luck is due.

He can go close here with that experience in the bank, but it may be worth taking a chance on KAKAMORA. Decent enough over hurdles, winning at Huntingdon and Perth on his last two starts, he has always looked likely to improve once he was sent over fences. He can go well after wind surgery, while Midnight Midge could also get involved.

Wind surgery, a tongue tie and hurdles may see a better effort here, but he will do well to finish in front of BRORSON. A beaten favourite last time at Cheltenham, he was only four lengths off the winner after running on late and looks ideally suited to an added three furlongs here. Ashver Hills has shown some signs of ability and could also get involved.

He makes his debut over fences here and has conditions in his favour, so could do a lot better if bouncing back to his best. BALRANALD won with more in hand than the one-length margin suggests after being produced late at Sedgfield and he may be able to shrug off an added 5lb, while Spot On Soph could surprise a few if she puts in a clear round.

BETTING: 2-1 INCA PRINCE; 11-4 KAYFAST WARRIOR; 4-1 KRYPTON GOLD; 10-1 TOMMASO; 12-1 AND UPWARDS OTHERS. TIPS 3 KAYFAST WARRIOR 5 KRYPTON GOLD 11 TOMMASO. PREVIEW Krypton Gold went in to the notebook after his debut second over hurdles at Leicester, but his jumping needs to improve if he wants to win here. Tommaso also caught the eye when third at Market Rasen after weakening close home and he may do better if produced even later on the scene. KAYFAST WARRIOR is a risk on his hurdling debut, but he won five times on the Flat for Tom Dascombe and, if he can jump a hurdle, he may have too much class for all of these.
